

The Riverview Funeral Home and the Coronavirus

The facts as we currently understand them.

COVID-19 is a contagious virus that causes respiratory illness.

The Coronavirus is estimated to be 2-3 times more likely to be transmitted than the seasonal Flu.

Estimates of the mortality rate for those infected with the Coronavirus vary, but all estimates are significantly higher than for the seasonal Flu, and particularly for:

Older adults

People who have serious chronic medical conditions like:

- Heart disease
- Diabetes
- Lung disease

Your risk of exposure to respiratory viruses like COVID-19 increase in crowded, closed-in settings if there are people in the crowd who are infected.

Our Response

Many attendees of wakes and funeral services fall into the higher risk category for getting very sick, and public gatherings increase the risk to the overall community of spreading the virus.

In light of the public health risk, we strongly encourage families to consider private viewings and funeral services.

The Riverview Funeral Home and Edward f. Adzima Funeral Home offers to livestream all funeral services and masses at no additional charge to the family. We also offer the public the chance to offer online condolences to families through our websites, www.riverviewfh.com and www.adzimaafh.com.
